Giving Thanks for a Successful First Year

October marked one full year of successful operations as Ghana's first fully accredited church of Christ-sponsored university college. We are so grateful for your continued support of our mission, our administrators and faculty, and our students. We have much to be thankful for in this season of Thanksgiving!

This year we have been blessed with continued growth in student enrollments, in the expansion of our facilities and programs offered, and in awareness about HCC in Africa and across the United States. With 43 new incoming students and 35 returning, we are up to a total of 78 students with close to 100 applicants deferred until January 2017, when we will be better prepared to receive them.

We have been blessed to witness both positive progress toward and successful completion of many of our goals this year. Please be sure to check out the 2016 Year in Review on the last page of this newsletter for more details, and join us in praise for all that He has done and continues to do!

HCC Professor Puts on Christ in Baptism

November 8, 2016 was a happy day here at HCC! The power of the gospel has touched the heart of one of our professors, Jojo Lartey, leading to his baptism. It's been almost a year now since Noah Osei, our OT Lecturer, has been studying the Bible with Jojo in their office at HCC during their free time. What makes this incident special is the fact that Jojo, unexpectedly and in the presence of other faculty members, students, and administrators, announced that he wanted to be immersed for the forgiveness of his sins. Jojo is a PhD (Mathematics) Candidate and Professor of Information Technology at HCC. Dr. Samuel Twumasi-Ankrah, President of HCC, shared, "Although at the time of his application to teach at HCC, Jojo wasn't a member of our brotherhood, we hired him because from my initial interactions with him I observed a very sharp-mind, yet, he was humble and clearly a high-flier." About Jojo's decision to be baptized, Dr. Twumasi Ankrah said, "I've witnessed several baptisms here, but that of Jojo this morning overflows my heart with joy as it confirms my conviction that in our context, when you sponsor an institution like HCC you're sponsoring a fruitful 'mission work'." Please remember Jojo in your prayers as he continues his faith journey and service here at HCC. His target is to submit and defend his dissertation in the late summer 2017 at the University of South Africa.

Congratulations to HCC Professor, Dr. Victor Boadu!

HCC is proud to announce the graduation of Dr. Victor Boadu. Dr. Boadu was awarded a Doctor of Business Leadership degree from The University of South Africa in Pretoria. His final thesis, "Developing a Model for Determining Corporate Performance After Bank Acquisition," makes a valuable contribution to the body of knowledge in the field of finance by proposing a statistical model that can be used to determine bank performance after acquisition. Dr. Boadu has been a faithful servant leader at HCC, having served as the interim Registrar until May of this year. He currently teaches for the Department of Business. Congratulations on this impressive achievement!

Accolades for HCC Professor, Williams Atuilik

Professor Williams Atuilik, head of the Department of Business at HCC and Vice-Chair of the Council of Trustees, is now the Chair of the Chartered Accountants Society of Ghana. Additionally, he recently was asked and accepted board responsibility for the University of Ghana. To date, he has had 4 peer reviewed articles published and he blessed HCC by naming the school as his referenced university of employment in all 4 articles. We are grateful for your great work, Professor Atuilik.

HCC President Visits American Churches & Christian Universities

In late September/early October, Dr. Samuel Twumasi-Ankrah visited 5 U.S. states where he met with church leaders and a number of university faculty, staff, and administrators. During his visit, Sam established new relationships with missions committees, groups, and individuals who expressed sincere interest in HCC and the work in Ghana. Sam also spent time catching up with friends and colleagues who were kind enough to assist Sam in the forging of new relationships with fellow Christian leaders. Throughout his trip, Sam met with ministers, educators, and business professionals to glean insights, expertise, and experiences to apply to the development of future projects and plans at HCC. His time in Dallas yielded scholarships for students and the prospect of future support. We are grateful to everyone who took the time to meet with Sam. The responses were overwhelmingly encouraging and we are eager to witness what God will bring of these relationships and pledges for support!

Students are Grateful for New Laptops

Student laptops, purchased from a local supplier in Ghana, are an integral part of the learning process supporting not only the students' work, but helping teach them the challenges and rewards of working in a digital environment such as HCC. HCC's purpose is to do our best to prepare our students in every way possible to work and live productively, with no disadvantages relative to other university graduates. The students pay for the laptops over the 4 years they attend HCC, and they are thrilled to have them!

#GivingTuesday

As you prayerfully consider where to invest your year-end gifts for the greatest impact, we invite you to be part of changing the future of Ghana. We still need 7 student scholarships to reach our goal! Please consider a life-changing gift for a student in need. Your gift will provide options and opportunities and bring hope for a better tomorrow. Donations can be submitted online (www.hccf-usa.org) or in the enclosed envelope. Together, we can leave a legacy of hope!
