Welcome!

A NOTE FROM HCCF PRESIDENT DEON FAIR

Dear Friend of Heritage Christian College:

Thank you for downloading (or otherwise accessing) this Information Packet on Heritage Christian College, of Accra, Ghana.

We hope you will join us in being an advocate for and/or a donor to this vital Christian effort in higher education. Heritage Christian College is soon to send its first class of graduates out into the world. That happens next year. These are critical times, but also exciting, meaningful times for HCC. So much depends on the support we can get from those who are devoted to the work.

I could tell you so much about what is going on at the college, but that's not what this packet is for. So I urge you to delve into the materials you have just accessed. And please share them with your friends, contacts, and various circles—work, church, school, family, wherever. We've made it all easy for you. Here's a quick, easy way to start: connect with us on one of our social media channels. Look to the bottom of this page to link to any of those. Then please start sharing our content.

You can also print out any of the information here and hand it out to friends. You can forward these as email attachments. You can utilize any of the tools we've prepared, and the more you do, the more the college benefits and the more good will is spread to Africa and to HCC's students. Help us to advance the college and advance the Kingdom of God. Blessings always to you and yours,

Deon Fair,
Chairman of the Board

HCC And You

HCC

Heritage Christian College was created by Ghanaians to serve and elevate other Ghanaians. HCC is intensely focused on producing graduates who are as likely to start a business as they are to seek a job.

Students enjoy access to cutting-edge technology on a near-paperless campus, and they absorb lessons from a highly accomplished faculty in an environment that instills Christian values and ethics. HCC's core values are the exact same values that will improve quality of life in the nation of Ghana and will serve as a model for the rest of the still-developing world.

And You...

HCCF is a front-lines player in the battle to win souls and change lives. What HCC does matters. It matters to people who are not part of HCC, but who watch from the sidelines in places like the United States. Tremendous amounts of American resources pour into Third World countries, Africa perhaps foremost among them. The stakes are high and HCC's views, moves, needs, and directions matter to Christians in the United States and, in fact, everywhere.

THE HISTORY OF Heritage Christian College

Heritage Christian College began as a dream project for Dr. Samuel Twumasi-Ankrah, then a graduate student at Abilene Christian College, in Texas. In 2002, two years after his graduation, Twumasi-Ankrah arranged a partnership with ACU to support the development of HCC, a Christian University to be conceived in Accra, Ghana.

A church member of the Nsawam Road Church of Christ, Twumasi-Ankrah's home congregation in Accra, bought the land that would eventually become HCC's campus, while church members from the United States contributed to breaking ground on the campus' first concrete block buildings. The vision to create the flagship Christian University in Africa was becoming a reality.

In 2009, HCC began the process of seeking accreditation for offering business and bible degrees. In the spring of 2015, HCC was accredited to offer Bachelor's degrees in Theology, Information Technology, as well as five different business administration degrees. The initial freshman class was admitted in the fall of 2015, with expected graduation dates of Spring 2019.

Today, HCC is celebrated as an institution set on exposing students to technologies and learning environments that will prepare them to create their own opportunities, uplift Africa, and become strong, Christian leaders in their communities.

Dr. Jerry Taylor

Assistant Bible Professor, ACU

"They [HCC] are evangelistic. they're still committed to believing that the gospel is able to save the souls of human beings... and then it is applied and it can make a difference in a person's ability to earn a living and to do it honestly and with the highest level of ethics and that's what I've been able to witness - HCC is very committed to that and spreading that not only in Ghana but across the entire face of the African continent and to see that happening just brings me great joy; It gives me a glimpse of heaven on earth to see how the kingdom of God is expanding in Africa."

THE IMPACT OF technology at HCC

MAKER LAB

HCC has recently gained access to some pretty amazing, cutting-edge resources, one of which is its very own Maker Lab. Currently, the main attraction of HCC's Maker Lab is its 3D printer. Students have access to the printer and will be encouraged to create a number of items in various programs at HCC.

With HCC's intense focus on entrepreneurship and starting businesses in order to grow Ghana's economy, it's exciting to think about all the possibilities and opportunities that could potentially come out of HCC's Maker Lab. Through HCC's Maker Lab, students have the tools and resources to create things that can affect and benefit the Ghanaian economy.

FARMBOT

The 3D printer isn't the only device that places HCC on the technological cutting-edge. In 2017, the college received another amazing resource, which will greatly expand the scope of the Maker Lab. This device is called FarmBot, humanity's first open-source farming robot.

FarmBot will expose students to using innovative digital technology in farming. Agriculture is critical to growing Ghana, and with this technology, it can be optimized and made simpler with little human input.

HCC hopes that students will use FarmBot as more than just a learning tool, but also as a tool to aid in food sovereignty and entrepreneurship.

Agriculture is extremely important for Ghana's economy and is also an interest of many HCC students.

the CEPE

The Center for Entrepreneurship, Philanthropy and Ethics (CEPE) has been established by Heritage Christian College as a step to reduce the spate of unemployment in Ghana. The official CEPE launch took place on Saturday March 17, 2018.

The center promotes HCC's mission which includes: entrepreneurship, philanthropy, ethics, global competence, discipline and servant leadership.

The CEPE focuses on developing and nurturing entrepreneurs with the spirit of philanthropy and ethics. It is a non-profit Center that seeks to support members of the HCC community: students, faculty, and other employees of HCC with entrepreneurial skills and financial support to facilitate the pursuit of profitable entrepreneurial ventures.

DEVELOPING ETHICAL ENTREPRENEURS FOR THE NEXT GENERATION

The CEPE has several products and services that have been carefully designed to identify, nurture and support potential entrepreneurs to operate profitable businesses.
